For Grown-Ups: How to Use These Worksheets

One picture at a time, about 5 minutes each. For pre-K and kindergarten.

Why use it

Joining the dots A to Z puts the alphabet in order with a pencil, and finding each letter on the page means recognizing it out of order. Two pictures use capitals and two use lowercase.

What it is good for

- Saying the alphabet in order.
- Recognizing each capital letter, then each lowercase letter.
- Matching a letter's name to its shape.

How to use it

1. Sing or say the alphabet together before starting.
2. Start at the star, A, and say each letter's name before drawing to it.
3. If a letter cannot be found, sing the alphabet from the start to find what comes next.
4. Join the last letter back to the star and color the picture.

> Try saying: “We are at G. What comes after G? Find the H.”

Tip: b, d, p and q are easy to mix up in lowercase. If your child stops at one, trace it with a finger together.
